

5.12 MEETING ROOM POLICY

The Bellwood Public Library (the "Library") has a meeting room, the Arnie Bryant Community Room, which can be turned into two (2) smaller meeting rooms. The primary purpose of the Library's meeting rooms is to provide space for Library activities, functions, meetings and programs. When the meeting room(s) is not reserved or otherwise in use for this purpose, the Library may make its meeting rooms available as a limited public forum for use by organizations or groups according to the criteria and guidelines set out in this Policy to support the civic, cultural, educational, informational and recreational needs of the community.

Library meeting room use will not be denied to any organization or group because of race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, unfavorable discharge from military service, political affiliation, or any characteristic that is protected by applicable law. The Library adheres to the tenets of the American Library Association's Library Bill of Rights, including its statement that "Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use."

Availability and Usage

First priority of use of all meeting rooms will be given to Library and/or Library-sponsored meetings, programs or events.

In addition to Library and/or Library-related meetings, programs or events, the following groups may use the meeting rooms for civic, cultural, educational, informational and recreational purposes pertaining the welfare of the community:

- Library-affiliated partners, sponsors and donors;
- Governmental tax-supported agencies;
- Non-profit organizations located in and operating on a regular basis within the Village of Bellwood.

The Library reserves the right to request a copy of an organization's non-profit status and location.

Meeting Rooms may not be used for: (1) private and social functions, which are defined as a function solely for entertainment through companionship with friends or associates, including but not limited to anniversaries, birthday parties, showers, weddings, and social club parties; (2) meetings, events or programs (including, but not limited to, presentations, workshops and seminars) involving the sale, advertising, solicitation or promotion of commercial products or services immediately or at a future time or for the immediate or ultimate gain of a for-profit business or agency or that are of a primarily commercial nature; (3) fund-raising activities; (4) any other activity that materially or substantially disrupts or interferes with the ordinary functions or operations of the Library and/or that may cause excessive noise or disruption to other Library users or staff or which by their nature are not suitable for the Library's facilities, such as elaborate theatrical productions or that creates an unsafe environment, a safety hazard or security risk or that creates a threat to public health, safety or property or violates the Library's Rules for Patron Behavior Policy.

The Library reserves the right to terminate any meeting, program or event that disrupts or interferes with ordinary Library functions or operations; that causes excessive noise or disruption to other Library users or staff; that creates an unsafe environment, safety hazard or security risk; that creates a threat to public health, safety or property or that violates the Library's Rules of Patron Behavior Policy.

Unlawful activity is grounds for suspension or revocation of Meeting Room privileges and the police will be called.

All meetings, programs and events in Library Meeting Rooms must be free of charge and open to the public. Fees may not be charged, collected or solicited for attendance, or for participation in, activities in the Library Meeting Rooms and donations or purchases may not be solicited or required. No goods or services may be sold or solicited, except at Library or Library-sponsored events. The Library retains the right to monitor all meetings, programs and events conducted on its premises to ensure compliance with all Library policies. Library staff must have free access to Meeting Rooms at all times.

All users are responsible for complying with the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act ("ADA"), which requires that a meeting or materials at a meeting be provided in an accessible format in response to a request. All special ADA accommodations shall be provided by the sponsoring organization or group.

All use in Library Meeting Rooms must clearly and unequivocally conform to all Library policies. Failure to comply with Library policies will be grounds for suspension or revocation of Meeting Room privileges.

The Library Director is authorized to establish reasonable rules and regulations governing the use of Library Meeting Rooms. The Library Director is the final authority in determining use of Library Meeting Rooms.

Endorsement

The Library is not responsible for the content of meetings, programs or events held on the premises. The use of a library meeting room by an organization or group does not constitute Library endorsement of the philosophies, practices or viewpoints of presenters, participants or attendees. Organizations or groups reserving use of the meeting room are responsible for their own publicity. All publicity including any written, electronic and broadcast publicity materials about the meeting, program or event must state that the Bellwood Public Library neither sponsors nor endorses the organization or group and its program. Only the Library's name and address may be used on any publicity or promotional materials; the Library's telephone number may not be included or used for any purpose. No organization or group may use or list the Library's address as its mailing address.

Meeting room applicants agree to indemnify, defend and hold harmless, the Bellwood Public Library, its officials, officers, and employees from and against any accident, personal injury or damage or loss of personal property which may occur as result of the use of the Library meeting room by the applicant or by the organization or group or any of its attendees, presenters or participant. Organizations or groups that wish to use a meeting room for a series of meetings need to submit only one signed application form in advance of the first meeting, accompanied by a schedule of the meeting dates and times. In order to reserve a meeting room again, the organization or group must re-submit an application. Meetings already held that year will count toward their 12 meeting limit for that calendar year.

The Library reserves the right to change or cancel previously approved meeting room reservations. Advance notice will be given to the extent. The Library reserves the right to alter, amend, modify or otherwise change this Policy at any time, with or without advance notice.
